Casino, Racing, Lottery, and Internet Gaming Capabilities

OUR GAMING ATTORNEYS HAVE SIGNIFICANT EXPERIENCE IN THE representation of well-known casino operators, Native American gaming interests, government entities, gaming equipment manufacturers, racing and wagering operators, Internet operators, vendors, and other companies that invest in, regulate, or provide services to the gaming or racing industry.

Our gaming attorneys assist clients in navigating the highly regulated gaming industry, including handling complex confidential investigations and regulatory proceedings. We counsel clients on the regulatory and business implications of financing, M&A, and restructuring, and advocate on their behalf in all types of securities matters, intellectual property rights, civil litigations, and criminal investigations. We also have particular knowledge of the quickly growing Internet gaming and wagering, fantasy sports, and sports betting industries.

Our Firm is a national law firm and handles gaming and wagering matters throughout the country. We have assisted with legislation, and the drafting and consideration of community benefit agreements that create partnerships between operators and their respective communities. Our team has experience across the country, and has the ability to make a full service law firm, and its talents, readily accessible to our clients.

We are particularly proud of our efforts in successfully launching full casino and poker Internet wagering under New Jersey’s newly formulated laws on behalf of various stakeholders.

Maritime and International Trade Practice*

By: John H. Dempsey

On behalf of our firm, let me offer a warm welcome to New York for this historic joint meeting of the Maritime Law Association of the United States and the Comité Maritime International. We are very pleased to be one of the sponsors of this joint meeting, and are certain you will enjoy your time in New York and the incredible range of cultural activities, restaurants, and entertainment available here. This meeting will provide a unique opportunity to see many old friends from around the world and to make some new friends, and we hope you will make the time to take advantage of some of the many things New York City has to offer.

OUR MARITIME PRACTICE IS BROAD-BASED AND TOUCHES on all aspects of maritime law, including civil and criminal litigation and other types of dispute resolution; insolvency and bankruptcy; regulatory work; and corporate and transactional work. With over 600 attorneys in our offices throughout the United States and China, we are able to assist in virtually any area of law. Our government relations group in Washington, D.C., is also available to assist in dealing with Congress and the many agencies of our federal government.

With 40 shipping lawyers in New York, Washington, D.C., Houston, and Philadelphia, plus many more at the firm who regularly support the maritime industry nationwide, we have the largest and most comprehensive maritime practice in the United States, with market-leading capabilities in regulatory, legislative, environmental, defense, litigation, alternative dispute resolution, financing/transactional, tax, employment, and emergency response. Our clients include ship owners and operators, charterers, cargo interests, P&I clubs, shipyards, commercial and investment banks, and private equity funds. We understand all aspects of the maritime industry and provide top-notch legal and business advice.

The scope and depth of our maritime practice sets us apart from competitors. For example, in the finance/transactional area, competitors typically lack our regulatory and litigation capabilities, making them unable to identify and address regulatory risks related to the transaction or assist the client when disputes arise. In addition, our size gives our practice access to a deep bench of professionals in areas such as the capital markets, bankruptcy, employment, and tax. Thus, our maritime practice, resident in a large general practice firm, provides maritime clients with industry-specific experience and capabilities, together with broader legal talents, needed to accomplish their business objectives and address their legal issues.
